WIGGINS WINS HARRIER RUN ON SATURDAY

Team for Intercollegiate Meet is Chosen

SCIENCE WON

Five and a Half Mile Run Around the Mountain

The attention of the spectators at the part of the R. M. C.-McGill Rugby game Saturday was diverted for a moment by the appearance of nineteen men in running shorts. These were the entries in the inter-faculty Harrier run which was won by R. Wiggins, medicine, in the time, of 33 minutes 39 seconds. The second and third men to come in were C. Brain and W. Kerr in 34' 08" and 34' 12" respectively. Science being only team with five men in the meet took first place with 14 points. The men lined up under a cloudless sky on a day which was almost perfect for the run. Coach Van Wagner handled the pistol and started them off at 2.32. The course followed was round the stadium, and the main entrance and thence following the trail of the former harriers of McGill over the mountain and back to the Stadium.

The length of the run was 5.6 miles but no markers were employed as the men were familiar with the course and the possibility of any man cutting was rather less than negligible.

The men were in fine shape and keenly upon their mettle since in addition to the three cups and two medals offered for competition the make up of the Intercollegiate team greatly depended on the results of the race.

During the half-time interval, a burst of applause announced the return of Wiggins, running easily. He was followed by Brain, Kerr, Hart, Wade and Egerton in the above order.

These six men, with the exception of Kerr, will form the Intercollegiate team. Kerr is debarred from Intercollegiate competition by the ruling regarding scolastic deficiencies. His place will be taken by Sims, seventh man in.

Before the rugby game was resumed the first three men was presented with cups and the next two with medals by Captain F. Vokes, Engineer Officer of R. M. C. to the accompaniment of hearty applause from the grandstand and the players in position on the field.

The men starting were:

R. Wiggins, Med., R. S. Wade, Med.; C. Brain, Sci., fl. S. St. George Comm.; W. A. Ketchin, Sci.; N. Egerton, Arts; E. S. Bieler, Old Boy; J. F. Rutherford, Sci.; W. N. Moore, Sci.; H. Hall, Arts; G. Grimson, Comm.; M. Goldenberg, Law; D. L.

OLD TIMERS OUTPLAYED UNDERGRADS

Good Golf at Beaconsfield Links

MANY BIRDIES

Alumni Defeated Students 8-4

Fine sunny weather greeted students and ex-students on their arrival out at the Beaconsfield Golf Club to play in the first annual Graduates versus Undergraduates Golf match. The course, thanks to the excellent work of of Jimmy Black, the local pro., and the Greens Committee of the Club, was in splendid shape—the fairways soft and springy, and the greens smooth and true.

At nine o'clock promptly the first four-ball started off; Gordon Reed, Sci. '22, and J. Foster Chisholm, Law '21, for the Old Boys, being paired against Arthur Abbott and John Gordon, Sci. '25,. The more experienced pair established an early lead, which however, was soon overcome by the brilliant putting by J. Gordon, the students reaching the turn 2 up. Coming home the steady consistent driving of Reed and the deadly work of Chisholm turned the tide, and the match finally ended on the eighteenth green with a win for the grads.

Heartened by the news of this victory, the alumni top pair, Hilary Robertson and Maurice Hodgson, produced a brilliant string of birdies, the French semi-finalist finding it impossible to miss any putt of less than four yards. The match ended on the fourteenth green, when Robertson holed his fourth consecutive birdie—the best ball of the winning pair being 5 under fours. Duncan Hodgson for the losers showed fine form off the tee, but could not keep up with the powerful hitting of his more experienced cousin, who, while not uncovering the brilliance which made him 1922 champion of Dixie, yet gave Mr. Robertson invaluable aid on the breif occasions when the latter was about par. Darling was, next to Mr. Robertson, the most consistent player of this match.

McGILL WILL PLAY HAMILTON TIGERS.

Hamilton Tigers have completed arrangements with the rugby officials of McGill University for an exhibition game to be played with the red and white intercollegiate squad at the Percival Molson Memorial Stadium next Saturday. The arrangements for the game between McGill and the Senators at Ottawa for that date did not materialise.

HANNAH CUP CAPTURED BY McGILL CLUB

M.A.A.A. Team only Competitor in Relay Race

RECORDS BROKEN

Miss Hazel Kessler Ladies 100 Yards Free Style Record

The McGill swimming team composed of Clayton Bourne, V. Clarholm Jim Ross, and Captain George Vernot, lowered the Intercollegiate record for the 200 yards relay at the National baths on Saturday night. The Red and White swimmers made the fast time of one minute, forty-five and four-fifths seconds, which is one fifth of a second better than the mark set by the Toronto Varsity mermen in February of this year. The locals however failed to break the Canadian record of one minute forty-five and one-fifth seconds made by the Detroit Swimming Club in 1919. The M.A.A.A. team was McGill's only competitor and if the contest had been a little closer better times might have been made. As a result of Saturday night's decisive win, the McGill Swimming Club now holds the Hannah Cup and the silverware will stay with the students until it is wrested from them. Judging from present prospects that will not be in the very near future.

The other outstanding feature of the second day of the meet was the magnificent performance of Miss Hazel Kessler of Winnipeg, who in the 100 yards free style, chopped two seconds off her former Canadian record of one minute, thirteen and two fifths seconds, which she made last year. Miss Kessler took the lead in the first few feet and was never threatened by her opponents. She set a terrific pace and was greeted by rounds of applause, when it was announced that she had lowered her former time. Miss Silcock, M.A.A.A. and Miss Dalton, of Brighton Beach, Ottawa, had a keen fight for second place, the former winning by a narrow margin.

Stafford, of the Montreal Swimming Club, was awarded premier honors in the diving competition. The second place went to Watt, of Verdun 500, while O'Connor, Verdun 500, and Courtois, N.A.A.A. tied for third. The exhibitions were not brilliant and when the running Mauberg was called for, several entrants retired, while others failed completely to make the dive.

"LIT" MEETING TO-DAY AT 5 P.M.

Every Class Asked to Send Representatives

To-day at 5 P. M. there will be a general meeting of the Literary and Debating Society in the reading room of the Union. This meeting will be of great importance and therefore every class is requested to send at least one representative.

The arrangement for the Mock Parliament have to be gone into. As this is to be one of the great functions of the college year, it is of the utmost importance that it should have the support of the students as a whole. The Inter-Faculty Debates are have also to get attention. The men at college are beginning to realize the need of becoming efficient public speakers. It is expected that these debates will be very hotly contested this year. Another matter that has to be discussed is the Inter-Collegiate contests. At present it is thought that the debating team will make a tour of the number of the universities in the matter will be under discussion at the meeting.

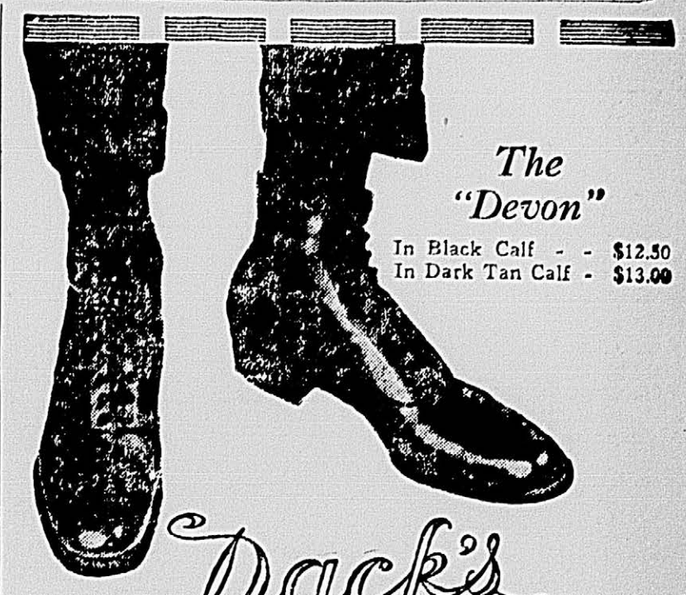

Judging by the interest shown in seem that debating is going to get unparallel support in this university during the coming year.

MONTREAL, MONDAY, OCTOBER 29, 1923.

GREAT HONOUR IN DEFEAT

As a result of Saturday's defeat, McGill once again has seen the possibilities for an Intercollegiate Rugby Championship fade quickly away and once again we must look forward to the years to come. McGill is definitely out of the running. Three times in succession has the Senior squad gone down before the attacks of opposing teams and our chances for the title have finally disappeared. But though we have been forced to take the left-overs in this season's rugby feasts, the honour of Old McGill has been upheld steadily by our gridiron warriors. It is absolutely untarnished and shines as brightly as ever. Our reputation still remains unsullied and unblemished and for this we must congratulate our representatives on the football field. In some petty circles however, there have been rumblings because victory has once again slipped away from our hands. But let these jingo critics with their balderdash, remember these few things. The game's the thing and victory is in reality a side-issue. Our team has played the game. The men have struggled on with all their might. They have given their last ounce of energy. But above all they have fought like the true gentlemen they are, for if we remember rightly, only one personal foul has been recorded against McGill up to the present date. What more is to be desired. "Victory," you say. Yes, in a way. But, our team has accomplished more than that, for McGill's reputation for fine sportsmanship is greater to-day than it was on the first of October—if such a thing is possible. And this is to be desired more than all the championships in existence and we thank the team for bringing us great honour, even in defeat.

CONDENSED COMMENT

The rugby match between R. M. C. and the McGill nIntermediates was one of the most exciting seen at the Stadium this year. Both squads gave excellent exhibitions of gameness and dogged determination, and only the best feeling prevailed between the two teams. McGill lost. R.M.C. won. And even though the reverse had been true, we would have left the Stadium with feelings only slightly more pleasant than those we had on Saturday afternoon.

Members of the Junior squad, who travelled to Quebec experienced nothing but the most complete hospitality during their stay in the Ancient Capital. The members of the Quebec Swimming and Athletic Club did all they possibly could to give their guests a good time and the Daily, on behalf of the undergraduate body as a whole, wishes to thank them for the extremely cordial reception given to the representatives of Old McGill.

McGill swimmers and tennis stars, in competitions open to the Dominion, won many honours for themselves and their Alma Mater during the week-end. They ably demonstrated the highest standard of athletics, which is predominant in the university, and if we only knew a few synonyms for "thanks" and "congratulations," we would write them now, in all earnestness and with all our heart.

OLD TIMERS OUTPLAYED UNDERGRADUATES

Of the other morning matches one of the most note-worthy was that in which Messrs. Sutherland and Abbott defeated a stiff pair in Wm. Pratt and Warde Allan after a neck and neck struggle culminating on the last green.

The afternoon matches were, for the most part, keenly contested, with the exception of the second match, in which L. G. Mickles and R. N. Hayes produced some of the best golf of the day in defeating Davis and Bell 9 up and 8 to play, after Davis had reached the turn in 40. The match in which J. H. H. Robertson and G. R. McCall played Grant Annable and Alan McCall was fraught with interest from start to finish. The students were never up, but on the other hand, they were never more than one down, and each hole was fiercely fought out to the last putt. Annable displayed the most likely form of anyone of the students team, his uncanny putting being a big factor in the game. Robertson showed that he had not been played out in the morning, and helped out matters for the winners by producing three birdies at opportune moments. The golf was consistent ;the four played each being in the neighbourhood of 78 in the round.

D. C. Abbott, on the other hand, showed signs of having been worn down in the morning match, for in the afternoon he and McTaggart, after being four up at the sixth, lost the next nine holes in a row. This was chiefly due to the fast play of A. W. Mitchell, who after a bad start played the last eight holes in the match at par figures. Of the others, the best golf was played by Fairbairn and Boulton against Hebert, the French star, and Roy Dillon.

Great thanks are due to the president and members of the Beaconsfield Golf Club for placing the course and clubhouse at the disposal of the teams, while the graduates are to be thanked for providing an excellent cold lunch for all .

At the conclusion of the meet Miss Kessler gave an exhibition of fifty yards free style. The prizes won during the two evenings were distributed in the reception room of the Club. Those who swam under the colours of the Red and White carried away no small proportion of the awards, the following from McJoyce Plumtree scored in the fifty yards for women: Clayton Bourne and Jim Ross, first and second respectively in the hundred; George Vernot, first in the five hundred. The McGill relay team was also presented with the Hannah Cup and each member received a medal. The University mermen were under the guidance of Coach Vernot and as a result of the week-end victories, the prospects for Intercollegiate competitions are bright.

U. OF M. HOLDS STUDENT PARADE

Fine Floats a Feature of French Student Procession

Headed by a squadron of police and a small army of torchbearers, the students of the University of Montreal paraded around the principal thoroughfares of Montreal Saturday evening. The parade, which was brought to an end at the Cartier Monument on Fletcher's Field is an annual affair.

The students assembled at the main University Building on St. Denis St., just below St. Catherine, early in the evening, and led by the police, marched to the lower part of the City. From there they paraded to the Cartier Monument, covering a large portion of the City in their circuitous route of march. The parade was enlivened by the singing of French-Canadian songs, the favourite among which seemed to be Allouette.

A considerable number of floats illustrative of the work done in the various faculties lent much colour to the procession. The faculty of Medicine was represented by an operating room with a patient under process of operation. A few skeletons dangling noisily in the background made the float very effective.

Southbound traffic on Park Avenue above the Monument was tied up for over half an hour, while north bound autos could only proceed at a very slow rate being forced to travel single file.

Several prominent members of the community addressed the students at the foot of the monument.

Jack A: Taylor ate something that poisoned him.

Myrtle McC: "Croquette?"

Jack: No he is very sick.

Dave: What makes your hair so red.

Marj. W: My hair is so wirey that every time I wash it it rusts.

QUEEN'S WIN ON SATURDAY ENDS CHAMPIONSHIP HOPES

Fighting Hard McGill Team Met Defeat at Kingston——19-3——Last Minute Rally Enabled Hughes to Put Over a Drop——Hughes Starred on Back Line——Little, McGregor, and Mickles Played Stellar Football——Leadley-Batstone Combination too Strong for Red-and-White Wings——Leadley Kicked Four Drops——Philpotts Dislocated Shoulder.

Fighting gamely throughtout and even staging an offensive in the dying moments when far behind, the red and white went down before Queen's in the scheduled Senior Intercollegiate rugby fixture at Kingston Saturday, by the score of 19-3.

The spectacle of the McGill men battered and shaken, carrying the play right into their opponents territory during the last minute of the game, enabling Gordie Hughes to put across the kick that saved them from a shut out, will not be readily forgotten by the vast crowd that filled the Richardson Stadium.

With the opening of the rugby season in Kingston the town went football mad. Store windows were filled with individual and group photographs of the gridiron stars, draped with the college colours, or other special displays to draw attention to the fact that the game was on. Everybody sported ribbons, Queen's of course in predominence, but the red and white of Old McGill was brought well to the front by those who travelled up with the team, the alumni and other supporters. The blue and white was also in evidence.

Ideal football weather prevailed, and a bright sun that shone throughtout the day dried any remaining moisture of the rain of the past few days and the ground promised to be in great shape for the game.

By two o'clock the stands were rapidly filling with ribbon bedecked spectators and when the rooters arrived, the boys wearing skull caps and the girls wearing tams made up in red, and blue also carring balloons the Stadium became a riot of colour.

At game time a wind was blowing from the west sufficient in strength to be appreciated by the team kicking with it and the sun had come out very strong rendering catching at one end of the field difficult due to the dazzle.

Queen's were the first to make appearance on the field. Led by "Boo Hoo' they trotted out while the stands roared. McGill also were given a great reception when Captain McGregor led his stalwarts forth. Both teams warmed up by running through their formations while the halves had a little kicking and coaching practice. At 2.45 Referee Bob Isbester brought the teams together and they were off. Queen's got the kick-off while McGill had their backs to the wind and sun.

The first quarter did not produce very good rugby as both teams did considerable fumbling and were frequently penalized for being offside. The McGill line held much better at the start of this quarter than it did later on, for as the game progressed opposing linemen were getting through more frequently and blocking the backs from carrying out their plays. Philpott was particularly outstanding, breaking away on a couple of nice runs. Gordie Hughes was a little off in his kicking but more than made up for it with his catching and running. For Queen's, the Leadley, Batstone combination soon made itself felt and McKelvey and Reynolds did some useful plunging. Leadley put over his first drop in this quarter and gave Queen's the jump.

The second quarter provided much more interesting football. Both teams played the ends a great deal and the crowd was contantly on its toes due to the spectacuir dashes of the two backfields. Leadley took advantage of the sun and started to kick, slowly driving the red and white back until finally towards the end of the half he broke over for a touch which he converted. Philpott injured his shoulder so badly that he was forced out and his absence was very keenly felt. Baker came on in this quarter and took up the kicking. Robertson, Anderson and Wilson were putting up a great game at outside. Evans and Lewis were going great guns for the tri-colour and Thomas who hurt his knee was pulling off some sensational tackles. Queen's had gathered in nine points in the first thirty minutes of play.

For half time the students had arranged a special programme to fill in the interval. It was run off in the form of a battle royal between blindfolded boxers, a bout between "Mrs' Firpo" and "Mrs. Dempsey" and a little exhibition of riding by Mr. Barney Google mounted on his trusty but wobbly steed Spark Plug.

In the third quarter the McGill line weakened badly and Queen's plunged for yards repeatedly. On the other hand Hughes was doing magnificent work in the backfield. He took over the kicking once more and was getting much better distance. In addition he tore off several spectacular runs round the end. Captain McGregor was right on the job and worked like a Trojan. When Queen's were pressing strongly toward the end of the quarter "Dug" jumped in and grabbed a fumble of Batstone's putting new spirit into his team. Leadley kicked his second drop while Batstone pulled a spectacular forty yard run.

The final stanza was full of thrills. Leadley added two more field goals and a single to his total. Gordie Hughes worked like a fiend smashing his way forward every time he carried the ball. He was finally rewarded for his brilliant work when in the last minute of play he kicked an dandy drop from the twenty yard line. Eddie Hanna made is bow in senior company when Coach Shaughnessy sent him on the last few minutes. He cut through the Queen's line for eight yards on his initial effort an showed that he was right there. Robertson and Anderson tackled in great style while Amaron and Starke showed up well on the line. Manson and Woodruff were tearing holes and some nice plunges were made.

Gordie Hughes undoubtedly played the star game for McGill. His running, catching and kicking was magnificent and the red and white's only points came via him. He was pretty well shaken up several times but each time went back for more.

To Leadley of the Queen's aggregation must be handed the laurels of the day. His wonderful exhibition of drop kicking, putting no less than four over the bar is only, on a par with his sensational running. He crossed McGill's line for the only touchdown of the game, converted it and also kicked for a single point. The whole nineteen points must be credited to him.

Little, Mickles and Philpott played stellar games, all three gaining ground. Mickles handled his team well from quarters while Philpotts up until the time that he was injured and forced out shone continuously.

Batstone was not far behind his partner Leadley, and he, Evans, McKelvey and Lewis played a great game for Queen's.

Coach Shaughnessy although keenly feeling the defeat of his team was nevertheless optimistic and looking forward to the game with Varsity. He was pleased with the work of his men and satisfied that they did their best.

Coach Hughes of the Queen's team voiced his opinion to the Daily reporter that McGill will take Varsity into camp when they meet in Toronto and he believes that the red and white have the makings of a fine team. He was particularly impressed with work of Hughes and commented upon the hard luck that has been following Philpotts, and keenly regretting the injury to the McGill half-back.

Queen's won the toss and Campbell kicked off with the wind and sun against them. Miickles returned the kick to Leadley who was downed on his forty lyard line. On the first down McKelvey dropped the ball but recovered for a loss of ground. Batstone failed to gain and Leadley kicked to Hughes who received it on his twenty-five. McGill were blocked on an attempt through the line and on the second down fumbled, Queen's securing. Batstone was offside on a pass from Leadley and McGill took possession. McGill was penalized ten yards for offside. On the second down Hughes kicked to Leadley who returned to McGill's 40-yard line. Mickles made five yards on two attempts and Little went through for ten but the play was called back for offside. Hughes kicked to Batstone who fumbled but Leadley made a quick recovery on his forty line. Reynolds and Batstone failed to gain through the line and Leadley's attempted drop was blocked, McGill securing on his thirty-five. Mickles got three and Philpott's broke through the centre for twenty. An end run netted three yards but Starke fumbled on the second down. McKelvey and Batstone made five yards through middle. Leadley kicked to Mickles on his twenty five. Murphy on for Wilson. Philpotts got five yards on the first but on a second attempt failed to gain. Hughes' kick was short, going out at centre field. Batstone and Leadley made five yards on an end run and on the second down Leadley kicked to Mickles who returned it. McGill were backed up for offside. Batstone almost made yards on an end run, the officials having to halt play to measure up. Reynolds made the distance through the line on the next down. Queen's were offside and lost ten yards. Leadley made five through the centre and on the third down he kicked a drop from the twenty five yard line. Queen's 8, McGill 0. Up till this time play had been very loose, both teams fumbling and being caught offside.

McGregor kicked off and after an exchange of kicks Batstone was brought down on his forty five yard line. Reynolds bucked the line for five and Mundell made it yards. Batstone got away on an end run for fifteen and he and McKelvey added seven more on bucks through the line. On a fake kick Leadley fumbled, McGill taking possession on her thirty five yard line. Hughes broke away for eight yards, Philpott failed to gain and Hughes kicked to Batstone on his forty line just as the quarter ended. Score at end of first quarter: Queen's 8 McGill 0.

2nd. Quarter.

Leadley took advantage of the wind on the change over and kicked on the first down to Hughes. Hughes caught the ball on his goal line and swerved in and out of half a dozen tackles to be downed on his five. Philpott made three yards through the line. Hughes kicked to Leadley who returned it to McGill's five. Baker went on for Mickles, Philpott taking over the quarter position. Murphy got two yards round the end and on the next down Baker kicked to Batstone who ran the ball back to centre field. Batstone made five on an end run with Leadley while McKelvey got yards with a plunge through middle. Philpott's hurt his shoulder and was forced to retire, Mickles replacing him. Reynolds was thrown for a loss on the first down. Batstone went through for three on a fake buck and on the third down kicked to Baker who ran it out ten yards from behind his goal line. Hughes made two and Mickles added another three through the centre. Baker kicked to Batstone who muffed the catch on his forty five. McGill's ball. Philpott's replaced Mickles. Batstone got away on an end run for thirty yards being hurt when heavily tackled. Thomas replaced by Walker. Robertson for Wilson. Baker was given a five minute penalty for high tackling. Leadley made three through the centre while Evans made it yards by the same route. On the first down Leadley got around the left end and went over for a touch between the posts. Leadley had no difficulty in converting. Score: Queen's 9, McGill 0.

Leadley received the kick-off and returned it to Philpotts who was brought down on his forty five. An end run failed to gain. Philpott's went through middle for three and on the next down tried an onside kick which Queen's recovered on their twenty-five yard line. Batstone was thrown for a loss but on the next down Leadley got around the end for a thirty yard run. Philpott's hurt his shoulder again and forced to retire. Mickles replaced him. Mundell made five yards through middle and McKelvey all but made yards on a similar plunge. Batstone got the distance through the centre. On an end run Batstone made a poor pass to Leadley who was downed for a loss. McKelvey made three and on the third down Batstone kicked to Hughes who returned it to McGill's forty line. Leadley kicked on the first down and Hughes made a spectacular catch against one of the goal posts, and swung himself out just as the half ended. Half time: Queen's 9, McGill 0.

Queen's were playing great football with Lradley, Batstone and McKelvey starring. Hughes and Philpott's were puting up a great game for McGill and the latter's injury that forced him out considerably weakened the team. The line did not seem to be holding very well as Hughes was being hurried on his kicks and the opposing backs were getting through. During the second quarter Leadley and Batstone took advantage of having the wind in their favour and the sun in the McGill back's eyes by kicking and returning everything that came their way.

3rd. Quarter.

Leadley returned Hughes' kick off and Mundell recovered the ball when Mickles missed the catch on forty five line. Mundell got away as the last man on an end run for twenty yards. McKelvey plunged for three and on the next down Leadley and Batstone muffed an end run, McGregor recovering the ball on his twenty five line. Hughes skirted the outside for ten and on the next down got three more. Little made five through the line and Baker kicked to Batstone who was brought down by Robertson on a pretty tackle. Leadley and Batstone combined for ten yards. Reynolds failed to gain but on a second attempt crashed through for five. Leadley kicked to Baker who muffed the ball but Hughes was backing him up and made a snappy recovery on his ten yard line. Hughes broke away for ten yards round the end. He was hurt when tackled but pluckily continued. Little was downed before he got going. Mickles slipped through centre for five. Hughes kicked to Leadley who made a poor return to Little at centre. Anderson on for Robertson. Little made three yards on two efforts and on the last down Hughes kicked to Leadley who ran the ball back fifteen yards. McKelvey made yards on two plunges through middle. McKelvey took another three off the outside while Batstone completed the distance through the centre. An end run netted five and when Reynolds crashed through for eight it made yards three times in succession for Queen's. Mundell tore through for three yards while Batstone and Leadley combined round the end for another three. Leadley kicked a drop from the twenty five yard line. Queen's 12, McGill 0.

Hughes kicked off to Leadley who ran to his thirty yard line. Leadley made three through the middle and got another two the same way on the next down. Batstone kicked to Baker who made a quick pass to Hughes but the Queens' wings had him covered and he was downed before he could make a break. Hughes tore off twelve round the end, breaking several tackles in doing so. He made three more on the next down. Baker was forced to fall on the ball when it came out too low for him. On the third down Hughes kicked to Leadley who after drawing the tacklers passed to Batstone the latter making a spectacular run of forty yards to McGill's twenty five line. Anderson for Wilson. Queen's tried two bucks but failed to gain. Leadley kicked to Baker who made the catch behind his line and just got it out by inches. Hughes kicked on the first down and Batstone ran the ball to McGill's thirty yard line. Robertson for Wilson. McKelvey failed to gain on a crack at the line. Third quarter score: Queen's 12 McGill 0.

VARSITY WINS AT ENGLISH RUGBY

McGill Rugger Team Loses Closely Contested Match

At Toronto on Saturday morning the McGill English Rugby team suffered its first defeat of the season by the margin of a field goal.

The ground was hard and admirably suited to an outside game but faulty passing and inexperience on both sides largely discounted this advantage, so that ground play was much in evidence.

McGill took the initiative with a series of forward rushes, but ground so hardly won was lost by two attemps at dropping a goal. An intercepted pass and a series of good kicks by Pendleton took the game within the McGill twenty-five yard line, but pressure was relieved by a touch in goal.

Some ragged play in centre field was followed by a fine run of the Varsity three-quarters to within a few yards of the McGill line. From an ensuing scrim, Pendleton dropped a goal which at half time gave Varsity a lead of 4-0.

From the outset of the second half, Varsity pressed hard and kept McGill on the defensive for most of the period.

Marpole, Wyse and Legg made some good runs but poor passing and a series of blocked kicks lost any ground so gained, till from a line out at half way, Beaton made a brilliant run down the touch line and scored far out. The try was not converted, leaving a score of 4-3.

Toronto continued to press and after a series of scrims within McGill's twenty-five yard line, Ross ran through and scored, the kick failed.

Good tackles by Hart and McLeod saved further scoring and Varsity was left with a 7-3 victory.

SOCCER TEAM VICTORIOUS AT BELOEIL

McGill Men Win in Hard Game

SCORE 6-0

Canadian Explosives Team Exhibit Fine Team-Work

On Saturday afternoon the McGill Soccer team journeyed to Beloeil and played a team picked from the Inter-Departmental League of the Canadian Explosives Ltd., winning 6-0. The weather was ideal, there being a bright sun and no wind at all; the field was a little slippery.

The ball was kicked off at 2.15; the first ten minutes, both sides showing good team-work. Seaton captured the ball and after some clever dribbling passed to Airey who centered and Knowles shot, scoring the first goal of the game. McGill tallied again in a few minutes, Seaton scoring after some fine individual work.

The good combination work of the C. X. L. forward line was the feature of the next five minutes' play; the McGill backs were kept busy but were able to clear the ball every time. The play went to clear the ball every time. The play went back and forth for the next quarter of an hour; the red and white forwards made several rushes but were not able to find the net, while the halves were successful in breaking up the C. X. L.

On a pass from the right wing, Moffatt succeeded in netting another goal for McGill, just a few minutes before half-time. This was followed by a concentrated attack on the red and white goal, but Easterbrooke managed to clear the ball and the halves sent it down the field, Thomas shooting but missing by a few inches. Score at half-time: C.X.L; 0, McGill, 3.

During the second half the pace slowed down a bit, but good team-work was still in evidence. Play centered around mid-field at first and then to the C. X. L. end; the ball was rushed to the McGill end next, but the shot at goal went over the bar.

The red and white had several shots at the goals during the next ten minutes but were unable to score, Thompson making some nice saves. The ball went up and down the field for quite a while after that, until Moffatt, by some excellent dribbling, got past the C. X. L. backs and scored McGill's fourth goal. Another goal soon followed, Seaton netting the ball on a pass from one of the red and white halves.

The C. X. L. forwards showed some splendid combination but could not penetrate the McGill defence. At this period of the game Moffatt and Thomas staged a combined rush and Thomas succeeded in scoring.

The remainder of the second half was marked by hard by hard playing.

Final score: C. X. L. 0, McGill, 6.

The match was very ably handled by Mr. T. W. Smith, (who is on the P. Q. F. A. board).

Refreshments were served in the Athletic Association club-house and the visitors were conducted through the different parts of the building.

A return match is being arranged for next Saturday.

CROCKER WINS FROM MORRICE IN GREAT BATTLE

The Vanquished Made the Champion Extend Himself

4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-1

Crocker's Superior Physical Condition Decided the Contest

Once more McGill tennis stars have covered themselves with glory, for on Saturday two McGill men, namely Willard. F. Crocker and Dave Morrice met in the finals of the singles for the Covered Court Tennis Championship of Canada. Crocker was successful in retaining his title after four sets of the finest tennis seen in Montreal for many a day. The scores were 4-6, 6-2, 8-6, 6-1.

In the doubes final Willard Crocker and Jack Wright were unsuccessful in defending their title as Indoor Doubles Champions of Canada against A. S. Cassils and J. W. Brown of the Indoor Tennis Club, they lost out only after five sets of brilliant tennis had been played, 8-6, 2-6, 6-1, 2-6, 6-3.

The singles were played first and no one could possibly have been disappointed at the brand of tennis displayed; it was beautiful, every point was keenly contested by each player who played at the top of their form.

Crocker started off well whereas Morrice took a few games to get warmed up. In the first set Crocker led at 3-1, and again at 4-2 but at this point Morrice came into his own and won 4 consecutive games with some of the prettiest placements seen on Montreal courts. Crocker continually kept coming into the net only to be passed by a beautiful shot down the line or across court. In the second set Crocker remained at the base line, only coming to the net when he had Morrice on the run and although Crocker won this set 6-2, the play was at all times brilliant, each player making beautiful drives to first one corner and then the other, the rallies were long but Crocker had the ability of angling the ball across the court oftener than Morrice and won many points in this manner.

Then began the all important third set, each player fighting to the limit for every point and consequently the play was fast and brilliant, time after time the ball would seem out of reach but invariably was whipped back by both players with amazing speed and precision. For a time it seemed as if Morrice would win this set for he led at 5-3 but at this point Crocker climbed to heights he has never before attained and dazzled the gallery with unbelieveable gets and placements, he literally stormed the net at every opportunity and no matter how impossible a shot seemed to be he invariably got his racquet in the way to send it back for an earned point. At 5-5 each player was fighting desperately. Crocker took the next game making it 6-5 in his favour, but here Morrice seemed to put added punch into his game and again evened the count 6-6. Here Crocker put forward a super-human effort and captured the two necessary games for the set. The closeness of the play in this set may be the better realized by the fact that Morrice had the set-point twice and Crocker had it four times before finally winning it.

After the rest Crocker played with unerring precision sending over drives of lightning speed, Forcing Morrice to make errors; and try as he did, Morrice had to concede the set and match at 6-1. Both players deserve equal praise for although he lost, Morrice put up a splendid fight, always accepting the hard luck with a smile.

As the scores indicate the doubles final was a close and exciting struggle although it was somewhat erratic, the steadiest and most brilliant player on the court was Cassils who played one of the best games of his tennis career. Crocker and Wright were both erratic and did not play the brand of tennis which won the title for them last year, however the tale might have been diferent if Crocker had not just previously played four strenuous sets. The first set as the score indicates was very even, Cassils and Brown playing aggressive tennis keeping Crocker and Wright on the defensive. In the second set Crocker and Wright found their feet and gave the brand of tennis which they alone know how to play and forcing their opponents from the start won the set with a loss of only two games, however when the third set began they seemed to slow up while the other pair renewed the attack with increased vigour, Cassils playing a remarkably brilliant game while Brown displayed his customary steadiness and without much difficulty they captured this set. After the rest Crocker and Wright played their best tennis running up a lead of 4-0, the next game they dropped making it 4-1, then they won the next making it 5-1, the following game was very close, finally being won by Cassils and Brown, the eighth game however, was won in handy fashion by the McGill pair giving them the set at 6-2. Then began the final set. Crocker and Wright commenced well keeping up their brilliant play such as they did in the fourth set and soon had a lead of 3-1 and still they were playing brilliant tennis and the match appeared theirs, but at this point he unexpected happened, Cassils and Brown seemed to suddenly jump from the mediocre to brilliant tennis and whether the change was too much for them or what not, Crocker and Wright immediately began to make errors, Cassils and Brown gained confidence from this and forced the game to the limit, before the gallery quite realized it they had piled up four games in a row giving them the set and match at 6-3.

QUEBEC WINS FROM McGILL JUNIOR TEAM

Clean Game and No Penalties

SCORE 13-6

Team Royally Entertained by Home Team

The McGill Junior Rugby Football team lost to the Quebec Swimming and Athletic Club team, on Saturday, by the score of 13-6. The game was played in Quebec City on the grounds of the Quebec Club and was exceptionally well attended, showing that the effort of the Swimming and Athletic Club in boosting rugby in the provincial capital are meeting with decided success. The McGill team was received royally, its members being billeted in the homes of the Quebec players. No effort was spared to make their stay as enjoyable as possible. A dance was held in the evening in honour of the McGill delegation.

The game throughout, though keenly and hardly fought was remarkable for the clean and open play, no penalties whatever being handed out.

McGill took the field facing the wind and in the first five minutes Quebec managed to secure a touch by very fast working. This was converted. The battle then became more even, bucks from both sides not meeting with very great success. Price and Zinck of Quebec proved to be consistent ground gainers with their end runs. At half-time the score still remained Quebec 6, McGill 0.

In the third quarter J. Price of the Swimming and Athletic team made a sensational eighty-five yard run to secure a touch for his team This was not converted. Play zig-zagged backwards and forwards for a while, Quebec kicking whenever they came within reasonable distance of the McGill foul line. By getting down under their kicks quickly, they were thus able to sucre two rouges.

In the beginning of the last quarter McGill by consistent bucking managed to drive to the Quebec five yard line, but they lost the ball there on a fumble. The A. C. kick was blocked by Addie and Swartzman fell on the ball for a touch, which was not converted. McGill then kicked again to the Quebec two yard line, but failed to go over for a touch. and kicked for a rouge. The game ended A. C. 13, McGill 6.

Play during the game was open and fast. The kicking was very good. Little and Wiggs of McGill did some very good tackling. There were very few fumbles by either of the halflines. Wyman, Baker, Adie and Boucher of McGill also bucked well.

The line-up of the respective teams is as follows:

ARTS TEAM BEAT AGGIES SCORE 26-7

Fumbles Costly to MacDonald

GOOD TACKLING

Long End Runs Feature of Game

Saturday at St. Annes, the Arts team defeated MacDonald by the score of 26-7 in a hard fought game.

The reason for the large score is that many end runs by Arts were not blocked leaving a clear field for the outside man. Gab Chisholm handled the whistle, Marsh officiated as head linesman.

1st Quarter

MacDonald kicked off at 3.15 with the sun at their backs. On a short kick Arts secured the ball, Bronson on an end made a 40 yard gain through a loose field for a touch which was not converted.

2nd. Quarter

On a heavy line plunge, Bronson got through and over for a touch. The convert went wide. MacDonald kicked but lost yards on the return kick. Sharpe went through the line for 10 yards but failed to make up lost yards. Arts tried a drop kick which was blocked and MacDonald secured the ball.

3rd. Quarter

In the third quarter the tackling was very poor, players grabbing their opponents around the neck. MacDonald gained yards and amid loud cheering Harrison nearly scored a touch on an end run, but he ran in touch. On the side line MacDonald kicked and Arts was forced to a safety rouge, (10-2). A fumble by MacDonald in an attempt to kick proved costly; Arts secured the ball and went over for a try. The convert was too low. Arts forced the pace and gained yards on end runs. Bronson on a run around left end secured another try which was converted, (21-2). MacDonald fumbles a catch Myers secures the ball and eluding tacklers crosses the line, (26-2).

MacDonald supporters gave vent to their feelings when Amaron crossed the Arts line for a touch. The whistle blew soon after with the score (26-7).

At no time during the game was the issue decided as play seesawed up and down the field. Arts won due to their ponents fumbles. Eaton, Sharpe, and ability to take advantage of their op- Amaron played well for the losers. Gardiner, Everett, Bronson, and Myers were the pick of the winners.

Leslie Cooke slit his tongue badly and had it stitched.

In the evening the team and officials were entertained at the weekly private dance. Everybody spent a most enjoyable evening in the ladies gym and appreciated the kindness shown to them by the authorities.

ONE POINT GAVE R.M.C. SECOND WIN

Exciting Game Thrilled Spectators at Molson Stadium

SCORE 12-11

Cadets' Condition Gave Them Slight Edge on Intermediates

In a game featured by end runs on the part of the Royal Military College team and fine line-bucking on the part of the McGill squad, the Red and White intermediates went down to defeat by a one point margin. The field at the Percival Molson Stadium was fairly dry and the cool weather coupled with the bright sunshine made the playing conditions almost ideal. There was not enough wind to bother anyone but the spectators, who turned out in numbers not greater than three or four hundred. An interesting feature of the afternoon was the Harrier Race which was started shortly after the game began and ended shortly before the close of the first period. Wiggins won the five and a half mile race easily and was an eighth of a mile in advance of the second man.

One might say that condition won the game, for the pace which the Cadets set at the very outset of the play was such that only men in the very pink could hope to keep up with it. In the last game the McGill end wings were carried out of the play continually by their opponents' interference but this time they were very much more successful in getting at the Kingston half-line. The breaks of the game were fairly evenly divided so that the score—R.M.C., 12, McGill,11—is a true criterion of the play. Amongst the Cadet halves there can be no choice. Their teamwork was excellent and there was no selfishness displayed at any time. Each time an end run started, the half backs lined up fully ten yards behind their snap and the ball was passed as quickly as possible to the last man who, by this time, was well out of danger from the ends. Once they made as much as fifty yards in three successive attempts. For McGill, Gorrie and Bazin played well, while Thompson, Glassco, Fairbanks and James shone on the defence. A very marked feature of the game was the excellent spirit shown by both teams toward each other. During the whole game not a single penalty was handed out and mutual friendliness and good will predominated. The only injury of the game fell to Ted Newton who suffered a broken nose.

First Quarter

McGill kicked off and recovered near mid-field after an exchange. By a series of line bucks and end runs the ball was worked up to the R.M.C. forty yard line and Gorrie kicked for a point. The Cadets now started a fierce offensive and by a series of end runs advanced the ball up to the McGill forty yard line and kicked. Adams essayed a running catch of the punt and missed, an R.M.C. man scooping up the ball and running across for a touch which was not converted. The remainder of the quarter was scoreless. Score: McGill, 1, R.M.C., 5.

Second Quarter

Play surged up and down the field until R.M.C. obtained the ball on the McGill ten yard line. The Cadets tried an onside kick but the Red and White recovered and on the first down kicked out of danger. For the next few minutes neither team gained any advantage until, starting from mid-field, the Cadets carried the ball by another series of end runs to the McGill ten yard line and bucked through the line for the second touch of the game. The touch was not converted. Half-time score: McGill, 1; R.M.C., 10.

Third Quarter

R.M.C. kicked off to the Red and White who obtained at mid-feld when the return was fumbled. McGill now advanced up the field until near the soldiers' goal-line but lost the ball on a fumble. The Cadets started another series of end runs but one of their halves fumbled, McGill recovering and running the ball back to the Kingston one yard line. Bazin bucked the ball over for a touch as the period ended. Three-quarter time score: McGill, 6; R.M.C., 10.

Fourth Quarter

R.M.C. kicked off to the Red and White and for a time one team, then the other having the advantage. An R.M.C. man fumbled a punt from Gorrie's boot and a McGill player scooped it up and ran twenty yards for a touch which was not converted. The Cadets now started a series of their end runs and reached the McGill forty yard line from which they kicked to Gorrie behind his own line for a rouge. McGill started a series of onside kicks and gained twenty yards before losing the ball. Again resorting to the end run system the Cadets advanced to the McGill twenty yard line and in the dying moments of the game kicked to the dead-line for a rouge. Final score: McGill, 11; R.M.C., 12.

Though McGill had almost invariably gained the ball in the scrims by playing eight men as opposed to seven, this advantage was more than counter balanced by the superior weight, numbers and speed of the Varsity outsides, who were remarkably quick n getting the ball.

The McGill kicking was weak, as kicks so often failed to find touch and the forwards were not quick in following them up, but it was mainly owing to rushes by the latter, and by Patterson in particular that McGill made what headway she did.

But all things considered, the game was remarkable for cleanness no less than for its keeness and spectators pronounced it the finest exhibition of English rugby seen in Toronto for many years.

(Profuse Apologies to Kipling)

If you can keep your fudge when all about you,
Are losing theirs and blaming it on you;
If you can sling a line while sophomores doubt you
Yet make allowances for their doubting too,
If you can sleep yet not make sleep your master,
If you can rise from bed in twilight chill;
If you can study until time for chapel
And never try to kid your prof. you're ill;
If you can sit down after supper
And settle down to your labor for next day;
If you can be oblivious to your neighbors
And never steal a glance 'across the way';
